WASHINGTON (AP) — Pro-union workers were given greater protection against unfair labor practices today by the Supreme Court.

A unanimous decision held that an employer found to have violated workers' rights prior to a representation election can be forced to stop the practice even though a second, unchallenged election has been held.

The ruling dealt with so far unsuccessful efforts by the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers, AFL-CIO, to organize the more than 500 workers at the Mountain View, Calif., plant of Raytheon Co.

The court said the fact that the union eventually lost a new election in which no complaint was filed against Raytheon does not mean the company cannot be forced by the National Labor Relations Board and federal courts to stop unfair practices that accompanied an earlier election.

The U.S. Circuit Court in San Francisco dismissed the NLRB's enforcement attempt in February 1969, ruling that the holding of an unchallenged election at the Mountain View plant had made the issue moot. The high court said through Justice Thurgood Marshall it cannot be assumed that workers' rights were protected merely because an election has been held. He said there was nothing in the record to show that the specific acts complained of have not been repeated nor is there any assurance they will not be repeated in the future.

However, Marshall and the court returned the dispute to the federal court in San Francisco for a determination of whether workers' rights indeed have been violated. There, the justice said, the company will have a chance to argue there was no violation or that it was so marginal an enforcement order is unjustified.

Marshall's opinion was announced for him by Justice Potter Stewart.

and answers." The vice president's past sorties against dissenters brought strong reaction, not only from the campuses and opposing politicians, but from high administration officials.

Although he indicated an easing of vocal warfare would be a good idea, he showed no inclination Sunday to take the edge off his remarks.

"I think it would be good if we could have a negotiated settlement of accelerated rhetoric," he said, "but I unilaterally do not intend to withdraw."

Answering "absolutely not," when asked if President Nixon had asked him to quiet his public statements, Agnew went on to say "and I will continue to speak out."

Former Hawk Believes Nixon Erred

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — One-time hawk Sen. Ernest F. Hollings is telling his South Carolina constituents President Nixon erred in sending U.S. troops into Cambodia and may have alienated an entire generation.

At the same time, his Republican colleague, Sen. Strom Thurman, has praised the Nixon decision as an act of courage.

Their conflicting advice to the same, generally conservative constituency is an example of the Senate's great debate over Cambodia.

More than two weeks after U.S. forces entered Cambodia, the initial anger among many senators has increased, along with sarcasm and disbelief.

This is especially true among those such as Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and senior Republican George D. Aiken who had earlier shown considerable sympathy with President Nixon's efforts to withdraw U.S. troops from Vietnam and wind down the war.

Both have been openly skeptical of Nixon's contention he can bring the entire Cambodian operation off by June 30—a skepticism strengthened by reports that U.S. naval and air forces plus South Vietnamese ground units may continue in Cambodia past that date.

"We were told soon after the operation started that the Parrots beak had been cleared out of the enemy," Aiken observed one day last week. But, he noted, radio reports that morning told of sharp fighting in the Parrots Beak with 300 North Vietnamese killed.

A little later, Mansfield told reporters he didn't see why the South Vietnamese couldn't take over the whole operation in Cambodia even before June 30. "Vietnamization is going very well," he said caustically. "It's a success."

Mansfield and other senators seeking to restrict presidential authority over fighting in Southeast Asia insist they are doing so as "strict constructionists" of the Constitution, referring to the article reserving the power to declare war to Congress.

That prompted Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., one of the strictest of the strict constructionists involving subjects such as school desegregation, to maintain "the time has long passed for making a strict construction here."

And Thurmond, long an advocate of hitting Communist sanctuaries, said "It is now time for the American people to close ranks behind our President."

But Hollings, noting he had always felt Presidents Johnson and Nixon had failed to go far enough to win the war, said the President's "sudden switch into Cambodia without consulting Congress amounts to a surprise attack on the basic tenets of representative government."

"We must act immediately to restore the people's confidence," Hollings said. "This is what concerns the majority of students."

"They have been fighting the militants and campus radicals. They have been opposing the burnings and campus takeovers. Their argument has been for the system and working within the system."

"President Nixon seriously damaged this argument with Cambodia," Hollings concluded, "and now we stand to alienate a whole generation of future leadership in this country."

Thinks WR Should Honor His Statement

EARLE, Ark. (AP) — The vice president of the state Republican party thinks Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller should honor his 1966 statement that he would serve no more than two terms.

Charles Bernard of Earle, the first Republican to make such a public statement, said in an interview that the state Republican party would be strengthened if Rockefeller did not run for a third term.

Bernard says he thinks Rockefeller will run.

Rockefeller has not said whether he plans to seek another term. But he has told GOP officials and newsmen that his 1966 statement was politically naive. Rockefeller said he thought he could accomplish all he wanted in two terms, but has found he cannot.

He has said he is giving serious consideration to running if he finds his candidacy would serve the best interests of the GOP and the state.

ported quiet over the weekend with most classes expected to reopen today, many under academic programs left to individual professors.

The University of South Carolina campus was not under curfew Sunday night for the second straight night. Most of the students spent the weekend away from the Columbia campus.

The 13,700-student campus was still under a state of emergency order issued by Gov. Robert E. McNair, and the National Guard was on standby. Student protests last week resulted in more than 100 arrests.

Between 100 and 125 North Carolina State University students from Raleigh leave for Washington today to meet with North Carolina congressmen Tuesday and Wednesday for talks on war.

Illinois Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie released Sunday the last of the state's National Guardsmen assigned to duty near college campuses.

The 1,100 guardsmen at Southern Illinois University in Carbondale were relieved of duty after most of the school's 22,000 students left the campus.

The SIC board of trustees voted Friday to close the campus for the final three weeks of the term to prevent further unrest.

A member of the Illinois House, Rep. A. Webster Borchers, R-Decatur, said he will seek legislation to reopen SIC. He said his bill would require that any member of the school's faculty who attempts to stop a reopening be arrested and upon conviction be fired from his job.

Northern Illinois University announced a two-day suspension of classes beginning today to memorialize the Jackson student deaths. A similar day of mourning was declared today at the University of Washington.

Ohio State University, scheduled to reopen Tuesday, said all outside student activities and faculty research would be curtailed to make up lost class time.

Howard University in Washington, D.C., cancelled all classes and exams for this week in order to discuss black problems.

At the University of Bridgeport in Connecticut, the alumni association joined forces with a fraternity, an honor society and a student group calling itself Students for Classes in an effort to prevent any more antiwar-oriented disruptions at the school.

Sentence of Death Upheld by Court

By ROBERT SHAW
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court today upheld the death sentence given Royce Van Murphy for the stabbing death of a fellow inmate in the state prison.

Murphy had been found guilty of first-degree murder in the death of Herchel Atkinson by a Circuit Court jury in Jefferson County and was sentenced to die in the electric chair.

The Supreme Court rejected Murphy's contention that there was insufficient evidence to support the verdict. Witnesses had testified that Murphy had stabbed Atkinson in self-defense. Both were inmates at the time of the incident.

According to the Supreme Court, Murphy said he got a knife from a nearby bunk and stabbed Atkinson because Atkinson knocked him down and called him a name.

The Supreme Court also rejected Murphy's contention that statements about the knife he gave to an investigator of the State Police should not have been admitted. The court said the statement was freely and voluntarily given after Murphy was advised of his rights.

In upholding the jury's decision, the Supreme court denied Murphy's contention that Circuit Judge Henry W. Smith erred in denying a motion to defer sentence and judgment because of Murphy's condition at the time of the trial and sentencing. The court said that Murphy was found without psychosis by the state hospital before the trial.

senior officer of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division said. "The need to secure these places, then ship the stuff out is slowing us down terribly. The political requirements in this operation are overshadowing the military requirements."

Because of these three factors, field commanders say they have little hope of satisfactorily clearing out the enemy's border sanctuaries by June 30, the time limit imposed by President Nixon.

There is hourly evidence that the North Vietnamese forces have recovered from the initial allied attack. Constant sniper fire and harassment attacks on the South Vietnamese Airborne Division in the Fishhook, one of the first areas hit by the allies, "indicates that the 7th NVA Division has sorted itself out and is counter-sweeping," said one U.S. intelligence officer.

exchanged fire across the Suez Canal, and a spokesman in Tel Aviv said Israeli gunners set fire to Egyptian fuel dumps in the northern sector of the canal. An Egyptian military spokesman said this claim was "pure fantasy."

"The truth of the matter is that our artillery blasted enemy positions in the central and northern sectors of the canal throughout the day Sunday and the enemy was not able to reply to our dense fire except for a few scattered shots," the Egyptian spokesman asserted.

The Israeli spokesman said the purpose of the artillery barrage across the canal was to silence Egyptian guns that had shelled Israeli positions.

Israeli warplanes struck across the Suez twice Sunday. Egypt said one of the attacking planes was shot down and another hit. Israel said all planes returned safely.

The Israeli radio said air strikes across the canal are being intensified to prevent construction of a new anti-aircraft defense system.

Cairo confirmed an Israeli claim that Israeli warplanes sank an Egyptian destroyer Saturday in the Red Sea port of Ras Benas. Egypt did not comment on another Israeli claim that a missile boat also was sunk. Israel said the raid on the ships was in retaliation for the sinking of an Israeli fishing trawler by Egyptian torpedo boats in the Mediterranean last Wednesday.

Lebanese Premier Rashid Karami reported that he and Syrian President Nureddin Atassi had agreed to a mutual defense arrangement Sunday, but he gave no details.

In Amman, Jordan's King Hussein took the occasion of the Prophet Mohammed's birthday to warn the Arab world that it is in danger of losing more territory unless it unites.

In London, hundreds of pro-Arab demonstrators paraded with an effigy of Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan hanging from a makeshift gallows. Thirteen demonstrators were arrested in skirmishes between pro-Arab and pro-Israeli groups. Police said one man was stabbed.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us! it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help Us! this newspaper.

SOLUTION TO SITUATION OR COMPOUNDED TROUBLE?

Dear Helen: May I make a modest proposal?

It's well known that kids latch on to fads, habits, etc. that irk the Establishment. So why doesn't the Establishment copy their fads, and thereby put them out to pasture?

If parents approved and enlisted Junior's aid in buying clothes, if Dad went the long-hair, bell-bottom route while Mom took the high-high skirt and guitars; if both announced they were against such crass and hypocritical things as making money, keeping up with the Joneses—(especially as concerns cars, clothes and backyard swimming pools) and getting out of bed in the morning—I wonder how long kids would think these actions were cool?

Maybe this is the way to make young people wake up to their responsibilities: Copy 'em until they see themselves as we see them. Take on their "codes of ethics" until they find they're unworkable—let them see that love, love, love is not enough. Do any of you oldsters dare try it?—EXPERIMENTER

Dear Experimenter: Count me out. I might discover the care-free life so much fun I'd end up on a tropical island—living it.

—H.

Dear Helen: Your interesting column contains a tremendous amount of information for people in all walks of life. Now your help is needed in clearing up a myth that has been making the rounds for much too long.

You stated recently that a person can get a high school diploma if he signs up for courses offered by the Navy. Not so! Neither the Navy nor any other branch of the United States Armed ma, most but not all employment offices recognize it in lieu of one.

If a veteran is in doubt about how to get a diploma, he should contact his local adult high school department.—J.D., ADULT HIGH SCHOOL PRINCIPAL

Dear J.D.: Thanks for setting me straight—and doing it so graciously. Your information will be helpful to a great many G.I.s and their families.—H.

Dear Helen: You asked for the names of the authors of "Mothers are People" and the slang-poem titled "Psyche-delirium Tremens. The first verse is by Betty Billup, and it's one of my favorites. The second was written by Jane Goodsell, a very clever gal.—READER

Dear Betty and Jane: Quoting is the highest form of praise, so I hope you won't take it amiss that I quoted you first, printed your names second, and only now am asking your permission. You know, a writer's second biggest frustration is that people often remember what we say, but seldom who said it. That's why so many of us get our names changed to "Anonymous" or "Author unknown."—H.

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Educational Network on Sunday night transformed the family television set into the closest thing to a stage. It broadcast a 2 1/2-hour production of the 1959 Broadway play "The Andersonville Trial."

It was a stellar revival loaded with important Hollywood names and ran its course without the mood-shattering commercial interruptions that frequently afflict television drama.

The play is set in the post-Civil War period and is the trial and conviction of a Confederate officer charged with war crimes—brutal treatment of Union prisoners in a pest-hole of a prison camp where thousands died.

Its whole viewpoint involves very contemporary dilemmas. Essentially it is a debate about the moral responsibility of the individual to take or refuse to take orders from military superiors.

It was well acted by a big cast that included William Shatner, Richard Basehart, and Jack Cassidy in principal roles. Saul Levitt's play tended, however, to be static and preachy and full of long pronouncements, a trap that can easily beset court-room drama.

However, a drama of ideas is a television rarity, and "The Andersonville Trial" was a blessing to be counted.

Balancing the weekend TV books, there was Saturday night's beauty contest that concluded with the selection of Miss USA. The CBS program, live from Miami, not only had the usual difficulties in turning an exercise in girl watching into something resembling family entertainment but was also plagued by a malfunctioning sound system. Occasionally the voices disappeared, leaving the unwary viewer with the impression that sentences were being blipped out deliberately.

The judges picked a pretty girl from Virginia, Debbie Shelton, but that came after a long period of preliminaries. The girls who look great when parading around in bathing suits and ball gowns have a pretty grim time as entertainers. The prepared dialogue off the cue cards is dismal, but when the girls are forced to ad lib—the idea is to test their "poise"—it is positively embarrassing.

TIMELY QUOTES

If they want to go this route, why don't they go all the way and legalize numbers? We'll make it another Las Vegas. Then it will really be "Fun City."

beauty pageant, from Miss America through the various teenage contests, is pretty well standardized and, by any show business yardstick, the programs are pretty dreadful. Yet all the contests attract big audiences, so it appears that they are doing something right.

Aaron Cracks Cherished 3,000 Hit

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Atlanta's Hank Aaron has shaken his shadow but unfortunately for the Braves, the Cincinnati Reds seem intent on losing their tall, too.
Aaron cracked the cherished 3,000-hit plateau Sunday, stroking a run-scoring single for the historic blow and following that with his 570th career homer against the Reds in the second game of a doubleheader.
All that was very nice for Aaron and Stan Musial, the last man to reach 3,000 hits, who was following Hank to make a formal presentation of the historic ball. Now Musial can go home to St. Louis. But the Braves spoiled the party by forgetting to win either game of the doubleheader.
Cincinnati's 5-1, 7-6 sweepable the Reds to open a fat six-game budge in the National League's West Division race. And the frustrated Braves, who picked up only two games on the Reds will winning 11 straight earlier this month, slipped to third place, seven lengths behind.
Elsewhere in the National League Sunday, Montreal outlasted Pittsburgh 8-7, Los Angeles blanked San Francisco 8-0, St. Louis edged Chicago 4-3 and San Diego dropped Houston 5-3. New York at Philadelphia was rained out.
In the American League, Minnesota defeated Milwaukee 6-1, Kansas City swept a doubleheader from Chicago 3-2 in 10 innings and 8-4 in 11, and California split a pair with Oakland, winning 7-1 before a 6-5 10-inning loss.
Baltimore at Washington, Detroit at New York and Cleveland at Boston all were rained out.
Musial was assigned to follow Aaron until the 3,000-mark was reached—a job that didn't take long. After going hitless in the first game against the Reds, Aaron's RBI-single in the first inning of the nightcap made him the ninth major leaguer to reach 3,000.
The game was held up for a formal ceremony in which Musial and William Bartholomay, president of the Braves, presented Aaron with the historic ball. Then play was resumed—a definite mistake for the Braves.
Jim Merritt had stopped Atlanta on seven hits in the opener, becoming the first eight-game winner in the majors this year. Pete Rose and Tony Perez cracked homers to make Merritt's task easier.
Then, after squandering an early lead built on Aaron's hitting in the nightcap, the Braves scored three runs in the top of the 10th with the help of errors by Darrel Chaney and Perez. But the Reds struck right back, tying the score on consecutive homers by Johnny Bench and Lee May.
It stayed 6-6 until the 15th when reliever Don Gullett poked a game-winning single, scoring Dave Concepcion who had singled and moved up on a sacrifice.
The Dodgers took over second place on Claude Osteen's four-hitter which beat the Giants.
LA bunched six runs in the fifth inning and ripped 15 hits. Five Dodgers had two hits apiece including Bill Grabarkewitz, who hiked his average to .420, and Maury Wills, who also stole three bases and went 11-for-19 in the four-game series against the Giants.
Bobby Wine and Mack Jones cracked sixth-inning homers breaking a tie and moving Montreal past Pittsburgh. Rusty Staub also homered for the Expos, who blew a 4-0 lead before bouncing back.
Vic Davalillo's pinch triple tied the game and moments later a pinch single by Leron Lee scored Davalillo with the winning run as the Cardinals topped Chicago.
Ferguson Jenkins was riding a 3-2 lead into the seventh when Joe Torre opened with a single. Two outs later, Davalillo tripled Torre home with the tying run and then Lee delivered another hit for the winner.
Ivan Murrell smacked three hits, driving in three runs and Chris Cannizzaro and Steve Huntz tagged homers leading San Diego over Houston.
Joe Pepitone and Joe Morgan homered for the Astros but Ron Herbel choked off a late Houston threat, earning his sixth

Twin Whammy Placed on White Sox

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
Joe Keough and Jim Rooker put a double whammy on the Chicago White Sox and the power of Kansas City's extra-inning magic increased twofold.
Keough stroked three singles and a tie-breaking 10th-inning double in the first game and Rooker, a swinging pitcher, drove in five runs with a pair of doubles in the 11-inning nightcap as the Royals swept a Sunday doubleheader from the White Sox, 3-2 and 8-4.
The sweep gave Kansas City, 13-21 over-all, a 7-0 mark in extra-inning games.
In the only other American League action, Minnesota defeated Milwaukee 6-1 behind the six-hit pitching of Jim Perry and Oakland divided a doubleheader with California, taking the nightcap 6-5 on a bases-loaded walk in the 10th inning after bowing 7-1 in the first game.
Rain washed out the Baltimore-Washington and Cleveland-Boston games and the Detroit-New York Yankees doubleheader.
In the National League, Cincinnati swept a twin-bill from Atlanta, 5-1 and 7-6 in 15 innings; Montreal shaded Pittsburgh 8-7; St. Louis nipped the Chicago Cubs 4-3, Los Angeles blitzed San Francisco 8-0 and San Diego downed Houston 5-3. The New York Mets' game at Philadelphia also was rained out.
In the opener at Chicago, Amos Otis led off the 10th with a double, took third on a throwing error by Syd O'Brien and trotted home with the winning run on Keough's double off knuckleballer Wilbur Wood.
Wood was the victim again the nightcap when Rooker's two-run double in the 11th snapped a 4-4 deadlock and Pat Kelly followed with a two-run homer.
Rooker went the route, yielding nine hits, to square his pitching record at 2-2, and delivered three runs in the second inning with a bases-loaded double. The former outlander finished the game with a blister on the middle finger of his pitching hand.
"He didn't want to come out, and we're so crippled up I didn't want to take him out," said Royals Manager Charlie Metro. "At no time would I even think of sending a pinch hitter up for him."
"He's a strong boy and knows what to do with a bat," added pitching coach Bob Lemon, who also swung a potent bat in his playing days with Cleveland.
Ed Herrmann poled two homers—the only hits off Dick Drago in the seven innings he worked—to give the White Sox a 2-1 lead in the opener. But Keough singled in the ninth and tallied the tying run on a two-out single by Ed Kirkpatrick.
Winning pitcher Al Fitzmorris, taking over for Drago in the eighth, limited the Sox to one hit the rest of the way.
Perry gave up a second inning run, then breezed past the Brewers for his sixth victory in eight decisions and the Twins' first complete game since April 28, when he went the route against Detroit.
The Twins exploded for five runs in the sixth, knocking out Milwaukee starter Lew Krausse, on the way to their fourth straight victory and 10th in the last 13 games. Doubles by Tony Oliva and Leo Cardenas plus a double error by Brewers second baseman John Kennedy highlighted the sixth inning burst.
The victory, coupled with California's split, gave the Twins a one-half game lead over the Angels in the AL West.
Oakland scored three runs in the eighth inning of the nightcap on homers by Felipe Alou and Sal Bando to tie the Angels, then pushed over the winning run in the 10th when reliever Greg Garrett issued four walks, the last one to Bert Campaneris with the bases full.
Roger Repoz knocked in four runs with a pair of doubles, pacing California's first-game assault and helping Clyde Wright bring his pitching record to 5-2. Wright blanked the A's until the ninth, when he needed relief help from Ken Tatum.
In a Saturday crash. Both hit the retaining wall but missed other cars.
Six spots remain open in the 33-car starting field with 13 hours of qualifications left next weekend.

Stanford Showed Hogs a Fine Team

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer
FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Don Breaux and Billy Kinard should have stayed in Fayetteville last weekend.
The two Arkansas assistant coaches traveled more than 2,000 miles to Palo Alto, Calif., to see Stanford's spring football game.
What they saw was a Stanford team without highly-regarded quarterback Jim Plunkett and seven other prospective starters. The Razorbacks open their 1970 season against Stanford at Little Rock on Sept. 12.
Arkansas already has the word on Plunkett, an All-American candidate, who was injured about a week ago. The 6-foot-3, 210-pounder completed 197 of 336 passes for 2,673 yards and 20 touchdowns last fall.
"It was a very typical spring game," Breaux said. "Fumbles and penalties kept it from being a high-scoring game. Two freshman quarterbacks went almost all the way and the score was 8-7."
Breaux was concerned primarily with Stanford's defense. "Their front four is very big and very mobile," he said. "I was also impressed by their middle linebacker and weak-side linebacker. It was very apparent they've got cornerbacks who can move."
Breaux and Kinard agreed that Stanford resembled Arkansas, both defensively and offensively.
"Their basic plays and their basic styles are very similar to ours," Breaux said. "They played basically an eight-man front last year but they have changed to a 4-3." Arkansas also uses the 4-3 defense, or pro-type defense.
"We really couldn't tell that much about them," Kinard said. "Except they have some skilled people."
Besides, Plunkett, tight end Bob Moore, center John Sande and fullback Hillary Shockley were missing from the offensive unit.
Stanford is touting both Moore and Sande as All-American candidates. Shockley, a 205-pounder, averaged more than four yards a carry last fall.
Kinard was particularly impressed with running back Jackie Brown and flanker Randal Vataha.
"Brown is dangerous," said Kinard. "He has great ability. He's the one we'll have to tackle."
"Vataha is an unimpressive looking kid, but he has fine hands," Kinard said. "He made a couple of great catches."

Trevino Gets Lesson From Another Mex

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Lee Trevino is going to have to start being more judicious with his lessons—particularly to a "brother" like Homero Blancas who cashed a Trevino tip into the National Invitational Golf Championship Sunday.
"I never thought I'd get beaten by another Mexican," Trevino laughed. "The lesson I gave Homer only cost me $12,000, I won't charge him though, he's one of the brothers."
Blancas, a 32-year-old former University of Houston star, charged home with a three-under-par 67 Sunday to win the NIT with a 72-hole total of 273—one shot ahead of Gene Littler and Trevino, the peppery former U.S. Open king.
Trevino noticed something wrong with Blancas' swing Friday morning.
"I told him he should move through the ball faster from the waist down," Trevino said.
Blancas said the tip helped him hit a slight fade off the tee instead of a pull hook.
"I just started turning my hips more and began hitting the ball more solid," said Blancas, who immediately went out that day and shot a 68 over the Colonial Country Club course.
Using the tip, Blancas pocketed the $25,000 first prize for his greatest payday as a professional.
Littler and Trevino won $11,375 each.
"I'm very proud of him," said Trevino. "I've seen Trevino who seemed almost as happy as if he had won."
Littler and Trevino both missed chances to send the tournament into sudden death after Blancas bogeyed the last hole. Trevino's 20-footer and Littler's 12-footer both slid past the hole after it appeared both putts would fall.
Blancas, who trailed Trevino by a shot when the day's play began, turned the tournament around on the 16th hole, a 200-yard par 3, when he holed a 35-foot chip with a wedge for a birdie. At the same time Trevino bogeyed the par-1 fifteenth.
Littler shot a final round 67 and Trevino a 69.

Pacers Take Second Game of Series

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — "I don't care how, where or when we win four; but I won't be too happy until we do," said Indiana Pacers coach Bob Leonard after the Pacers took the second game in a row from the Los Angeles Stars in the American Basketball Association's best-of-seven playoffs.
The teams head for Anaheim, Calif., tonight after playing the first two games at Indianapolis. The Pacers came from behind to win 114-111 Sunday after taking Friday night's opener 109-93.
Bob Netolicky, whom Leonard took out of the game in the third quarter after he totaled four fouls and not enough points, saved Sunday's game for the Pacers when he came through with two free throws with six seconds left.
"I knew I could make them," he said.
Big Mel Daniels of Indiana led the game's scoring with 31 points. And he grabbed 27 rebounds before he was knocked down, hard, under the Stars' basket with six seconds to go. He stayed down quite a while before he got up to a standing ovation.
"Roger (Brown) knocked me down," Daniels said. "I was sort of surprised."
Brown, who scored even with Netolicky at 23 points, said, "Man, I wasn't hitting anything. I even missed three of those close shots."
George Stone and Merv Jackson were the main scorers in the Pacers' sides. Stone scored 29 points and Jackson, with quick, high-jumping outside efforts, scored 28.
The next two games of the series will be tonight and Tuesday night at Anaheim.

Hope Golfers 11th in the State Meet

By BILL MOORE
Star Sports Writer
Under some heavy competition and course disadvantages the Hope Golfers, Ralph Roulton and Jack Turner, placed 11th in the state at Little Rock last week.
Turner shot a 163 and Roulton 168 for a combined 72 hole total of 331 strokes.
The AA state champion was Van Burean with Charlie Polk, of Marianna, winning the individual medal honors.
This was the last match for Roulton, the senior captain, but Turner, along with Jimmy and Jerry Pruden will return next year to defend the district title, and it should be a good one.

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Arts and Letters, 1969's horse of the year, files home to New York today after apparently ending a magnificent career with a leg injury and a dismal sixth-place finish.
The 4-year-old chestnut colt turned up lame after his poor showing in Saturday's $110,000 Californian at Hollywood Park.
"The inside branch of the left suspensory tendon is bowed," said Dr. Jack Robbins after he examined X-rays. "I would say the prognosis for his future as a race horse is not good."
His past was brilliant, winning $555,604 as the nation's leading 3-year-old in 1969 and a lifetime $632,404 going into Saturday's race.
Robbins estimated it will be "six to eight months" before the horse could resume training. "The best treatment for an injury like this is Mother Nature. He needs time now," he said.
Virginia-bred Arts and Letters gained fame in last year's Belmont Stakes with an upset victory that deprived Majestic Prince of the Triple Crown.

Bob Veith of Santa Rosa, Calif., who has started 11 Indianapolis races, wrecked his Watson-Offenhauser beyond repair in a practice run Sunday but escaped injury. Sonny Ates of Sellersburg, Ind., also was unhurt save and protecting Mike Corbins' third straight victory.

Travelers in Win Over San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Danny Napoleon belted the first pitch of the ninth inning over the left-centerfield fence to give the Arkansas Travelers a 6-5 victory over San Antonio in Texas League baseball game Sunday night and break the Missions' four-game winning streak. Napoleon also doubled home the tie-breaking run in the seventh inning as Arkansas came from a 4-2 deficit with a pair of tallies. Each team scored in the eighth before Napoleon put it away for the Cardinals.

Miss Englehorn First in St. Louis Open

By PAUL LE BAR
Associated Press Sports Writer
ST. LOUIS (AP) — Thanks to a new putter, Shirley Englehorn of the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour has a renewed outlook on a career that has had its discouraging turns.

The 29-year-old Caldwell, Idaho native, winless since 1968, Sunday parlayed a flock of birdies into first place in the $22,000 St. Louis Open.

"Pressure putting is the name of this game," said Miss Englehorn, whose caddy presented her the new putter during the tournament.

Putting it to work, she carved four birdies on the final round for a four-under-par 68 that spelled victory by two strokes over leading LPGA money winner Carol Mann.

Miss Englehorn finished with a 216 for the 54 holes, Miss Mann with a 218.

"It's been a long time since I've played a round like that," beamed the winner of $3,075, who twice suffered broken legs in accidents that disrupted her career.

Miss Englehorn and Miss Mann had burst from a pack of four who began the last nine holes even over Glen Echo Country Club's sun-flooded 6,244-yard course.

Three-time champion Kathy Whitworth fell back by bogeying four of the next six holes and wound up fourth at 220 behind Jo Ann Prentice's 219.

The putting of Margie Masters, who blistered the front nine with a three-under-par 34 to pass Miss Prentice, faltered on the final four holes and she wound up tied with Betty Burdick and Sandra Haynie at 221.

No Action on Southland Racing Dates

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Racing Commission met Saturday, but recessed its hearing without acting on a Southland Racing Corp. application for racing dates at the greyhound track at West Memphis.

Dr. Porter Rodgers Sr. of Searcy, a commission member, charged in a brief statement to reporters that the delay was politically inspired.

Guy Newcomb of Osceola, commission chairman, declared the recess after John Gill, attorney for the commission, said the Southland application was incomplete.

Newcomb said the recess would be terminated subject to his call, probably sometime this week.

Earlier this month, the commission rejected the Southland application for racing dates. The application was thought at that time to be in order, Gill said.

However Saturday he said that apparently by oversight the corporation had failed to supply information on certain business transactions which new commission rules require be included.

C. B. Nance Jr., attorney for Southland, agreed to begin work Monday to furnish the omitted information.

The commission did not deny dates in the meeting Saturday, but asked for information to make the application complete.

Gill cited a rule requiring disclosure of business contracts between Southland and any of its officers, directors, principal stockholders, management or employees if the sums involved are "material."

Rodgers issued a brief statement to newsmen saying it was a "shame and disgrace" that the commission had not granted racing dates to the track.

He said hundreds of workers depended on the track operation for their livelihood and that stockholders were entitled to the dates lest they "lose confidence in the Arkansas Racing Commission."

Landowners Have Signed Agreements

Over 1600 landowners and operators have conservation agreements on their lands in the Hempstead County Soil and Water Conservation District and Slomom Goodlett, Chairman of the Board of Directors, recommends that every landowner in the district secure a conservation plan for his place if he does not have one.

Technicians from the Soil Conservation Service will assist you with a plan on your land upon request. The landowner will be furnished a copy of the plan which includes an aerial photograph of the land. It will also record the landowners decisions as to how he plans to use the land and the conservation practices needed for protection and improvement.

How the land is to be used is the landowners decision. Once this determination has been made the technician will make recommendations based upon the soil type and capability. From the soil map he has of the place he can tell you what grass, legume or tree species is best suited to your soil. He can also help the landowner determine what conservation practices are needed to carry out the landowners desires. The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service will cost share a number of the conservation practices if prior approval is obtained. Liming, pasture seeding, tree planting, timber stand improvement, fertilizing, and ponds are some of the practices that are used to improve and protect the soil.

If you have land in the Hempstead County Soil and Water Conservation District and are interested in a plan to improve and protect it, contact the Soil Conservation Service at Room 212, in the Federal Building. You can write them at the above address or phone 777-5561 or call George F. Brown at home after work hours at 777-2864. A conservation plan will protect the soil from erosion and in most cases mean more profit to the owner.

Court Shields Newspapers From Libel

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court shielded newspapers today from libel judgments for reporting heated public debate on controversial matters.

In a 7-1 decision the court said the reprinting of "rhetorical hyperbole" or a "vigorous epithet" against a public figure at a public meeting is protected by the First Amendment.

Even the word "blackmail" may be used in an article so long as the readers understood the criticized public figure was not charged with the commission of a criminal offense, Justice Potter Stewart said.

The libel decision reverses a $17,500 judgment a Washington area developer had won against the Greenbelt, Md., News Review.

The court said there was no evidence the weekly newspaper engaged in malice when it reported the developer, Charles S. Bresler, had been accused of "blackmail" at a city council meeting.

Justice Byron R. White objected to the sweep of the decision, saying newspapers and broadcasters should not be immunized from libel judgments when they use ambiguous language and fail to guard against the possibility of double-meaning words that may seriously damage the person in the eyes of the average reader.

However, White went along with the majority in reversing the libel judgment because he, like the other justices, said the trial judge erred when he told the jury a newspaper may be held for libel on a finding of "falsehood and general hostility."

Stewart said the Constitution imposes strict limits upon the possibility of collecting libel judgments because the threat of such judgments could impair the unfettered exercise of freedom of speech and freedom of the press.

New York's Redistricting Plan Upheld

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court approved today New York's statewide congressional redistricting plan.

The 1969 state apportionment law had been attacked as unconstitutional gerrymandering by the Republican-controlled legislature. The attack was brought by David I. Wells, a political scientist.

The court, ruling six weeks after Wells had appealed, affirmed the judgment of a three-judge federal court in New York City that the plan is constitutional.

The 1969 law followed invalidation of New York's 1968 congressional districting plan by the Supreme Court last April. The new plan will be used to elect 41 congressmen from the state in November.

Wells, an official of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, said Republicans in Albany had drawn grotesquely shaped and non contiguous districts for partisan advantage. He said the districts were equal in population, but because of the gerrymandering the plan is a greater violation of voting rights than the 1968 plan.

WORLD ALMANAC
FACTS

Snorro was the first child born to European parents in America. The World
Almanac notes. He was the son of Thorfinn Karlseini and Gudrid, the widow of Leif Erickson's brother Thorstein. They arrived in America with a party of 160 Norse volunteers to form a settlement in Vin-

Oswald: "The late Ely Culbertson used to show a couple of hands in each month's issue of the Bridge World magazine to show experts at their best and worst.
Names were mentioned and while he did build up a little good will with the experts shown at their best, he more than made up for it with the enemies he made among the experts shown at their worst."

Jim: "Once in awhile an expert will really come up with a horror. Most of the times when the expert goes wrong he has had a mighty good reason for his bid or play."

Oswald: "Like the man who said, 'I played brilliantly, but with complete lack of success.'"

Jim: "Any pair of beginners would have no trouble defeating South's no-trump game by three tricks. They are taught to play third-hand high so beginner East would play his king of spades on dummy's seven. The king would hold. He would return the 10. West would cash the rest of his spades and the ace of hearts and South would handle the rest of the tricks comfortably."

Oswald: "Expert East or even an experienced player would play the 10 of spades. This is a bracket play and can only cost him if South holds specifically jack and a small spade. It will gain for him any time
South holds the spade ace."

Jim: "As an example, just swap the ace and jack of spades and queen and three of clubs between West and South. The king of spades play will give South two spade tricks and timing to make the contract. The 10 of spades play will knock him out of the box."

Petitions Filed for Election

The bottom of our political announcement column in Saturday's Star came out as shown above—and while it got a chuckle from the readers I want to assure all the candidates whose announcements we carry, and particularly Mr. Honeycutt, that both the placement and the humor were unintentional.

Our syndicates furnish us, as they do all dailies, a lot of "fillers" or "column closers" which are used to space out newspaper columns to a uniform depth. Along with the text "fillers" are a number of one-column miniature cartoons which serve the same purpose.

This material is sprinkled at random over the various pages, placement being determined solely by the space required to fill—the content seldom being noticed.

But this one did get noticed—the picture of a fellow taking his ease in a hammock in a column devoted to earnest candidates for public office.

Funny—but our staff's not proud of that kind of humor. It just goes to show you what happens the moment you quit reading every line of type and every picture before going to press.

In the future our folks will be watching syndicated material just as closely as they read local material.

Three Trailway buses stopped at the Town & Country restaurant last Thursday and unloaded 131 members of the Lewisville (Texas) High School Band—and our Gene Allen noted there wasn't a long-haired in the entire crowd. Later, Gene recalls, he talked to a truck-driver who told him the "why" of the story. The truck-driver said Lewisville is a neighbor of Grapevine, which a few years ago was invaded by thousands of hippies. They created such a disturbance that the town fired the police chief who had granted the permit for the meeting—with effects that last to this very day.

The truck-driver told Gene that even today anyone with a hippie-type haircut can't get a job in the Lewisville-Grapevine area of Texas.

Speaking of the generation gap, I got the following reflection from Managing Editor Paul H. Jones: Paul was mowing his yard under a hot sun the other afternoon when a carload of youngsters sped by. It was then that he uttered the words made famous by all the adult lawn mowers in the nation:

"The generation gap begins when the parent spares the rod and starts spoiling the child."

Rockefeller Urged to Seek a 3rd Term

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—In the final meeting of the Young Republicans League here Sunday members urged Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller to seek a third term in office.

Rockefeller has not announced his future political plans.

The league also called for legalizing abortion, marijuana and gambling.

The YRL approved a recommendation abolishing censorship and the repeal of laws against sexual activity between consenting adults.

However, the delegations from Shorter College in Little Rock and AM&N College in Pine Bluff, both pre-dominately Negro colleges, urged the league to give more concern with the poverty and racism.

Both delegations denounced the convention and refused to attend the final sessions saying that there should be more black involvement in the convention.

Agnew Makes No Sign Toning Down Criticism of Dissident Students

By KENNETH J. FRED Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, showing no signs of toning down his criticism of college dissidents, says many students who staged an antiwar protest near the White House a week ago, "were out on a spring lark."

Speaking Sunday, Agnew added: "I certainly don't agree that the demonstrations that took place in Washington and some of the demonstrations that have taken place on the campus are really indicative of . . . deep-seated student hostility on the Cambodian decision."

"I think that much of the Cambodian decision was misunderstood and the facts of it are just coming out."

He went on: "I think a lot of those students were out on a typical spring lark. I think there were some who actually had the feeling they were participating in a very important venture."

An estimated 60,000 to 100,000 protesters came to Washington a week ago last Saturday to demonstrate across the street from the White House against the Cambodian involvement and the deaths of four Ohio students in a confrontation with National Guardsmen.

The vice president's remarks brought a quick retort from Sen. J. W. Fulbright, one of the Senate's leading critics of Nixon's Vietnam policy, including the attack by U.S. troops into Cambodia.

"The vice president is afflicted with myopia," the Arkansas Democrat said when asked about Agnew's statement that campus hostility to the Cambodian situation does not run deep.

"He doesn't see very deeply in any of these things," Fulbright said. "He is a new man in the Washington scene . . . He has much to learn."

Very Few Voted in Dominican

By WILLIAM F. NICHOLSON Associated Press Writer

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — President Joaquin Balaguer won overwhelming re-election in the Dominican Republic over the weekend, but more than 20 percent of the expected voters stayed home on election day.

Final unofficial returns from the voting Saturday gave Balaguer 607,717 votes; Vice President Francisco Augusto Lora, who broke with Balaguer last year, 240,537; former military strongman Elias Wessin y Wessin, 153,591; Alfonso Moreno Martinez of the Social Christian party, 58,949; and Jaime Manuel Fernandez of the National Conciliation Movement, 51,039.

Official returns are not expected to be tabulated until late this week.

The Dominican Revolutionary party, led by former President Juan Bosch, urged the people to boycott the balloting. Bosch, ousted by the military in 1963, called the election a farce.

The total turnout of slightly more than 1.1 million voters was considerably lower than in 1966, when more than 1.3 million voted. The government had predicted at least 1.5 million would vote this time.

Five Killed in Nashville Plane Crash

NASHVILLE, Ark. (AP) — An official of the Federal Aviation Agency said Sunday that an investigation is continuing into the crash of a single-engine Cessna 140 that killed five persons.

The cause of the crash has not been determined, but a FAA spokesman said it was "debatable" that the plane should have been carrying five passengers.

Howard County officials said the plane, owned by National Aircraft Enterprise at Nashville, had undergone repair work to one of the wings prior to the crash.

An eyewitness to the crash said something appeared to be dangling from one of the wings before the plane crashed in a farm field north of here and immediately burst into flames.

Identification of the victims was delayed by authorities until Sunday because of difficulty in identifying the bodies in the charred ruins.

Police identified the victims as Ben Lindsey, 40, the pilot, Joe Capps, 26, Mrs. Dolphine Youngblood, 32, all of Nashville and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Alrich of Broken Bow, Okla.

Lindsey and Capps worked at the Nashville airport as mechanics.

Disturbances at Spa Have Quieted

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Authorities reported a quiet night Sunday following a racial disturbance in Hot Springs Saturday night which left broken windows and one Negro in serious condition after he was shot.

Police said Carl E. Walker, 28, of Hot Springs was shot by the owner of a liquor store in an apparent robbery attempt. The store owner, who is white, told police that his store had been damaged by rocks as a group of Negroes gathered in downtown Hot Springs.

The Negroes hurled rocks at passing motorists and broke the windows of businesses.

Police Chief Joe Crain said the incident was apparently sparked after a group of whites burned a cross on West Mountain near Hot Springs.

While the cross was burning, the Committee for Liberation of Blacks was sponsoring a party for black teenagers at a downtown parking lot.

Lightning Thrust Into Cambodia Is Slowing Down Very Rapidly

By PETER ARNETT Associated Press Writer

BASE AREA 351, Cambodia (AP)—After spectacular initial results, the lightning allied thrust into Cambodia is rapidly slowing down.

Field commanders cite three factors for this loss of momentum in the three-week-old campaign against a dozen Communist supply bases:

1. Strengthening resistance North Vietnamese regiments that fled before the massive armored pushes across the border have returned and are launching counterattacks against the American and South Vietnamese troops.

2. The rapidly approaching monsoon that is bringing early morning fog and late afternoon rains. A brigade commander at this base area 100 miles north of Saigon, Col. Carter W. Clarke, said Sunday his operations are sometimes reduced to six hours a day because of the weather.

3. The orders to clean out the enemy supply caches and stockpile the supplies inside South Vietnam.

"We would much rather blow these caches up and move," a Israeli jets struck at targets in the northern Jordan Valley today and Jordanian ground fire brought down one plane, an army spokesman said in Amman.

The spokesman made no mention of casualties in reporting the raid, which he said involved more than 10 Israeli planes.

Six Israeli jets bombed the Zmal area in the valley while four others raided the Umm Qays area south of the occupied Golan Heights.

Later, planes pounded the area of the East Ghor irrigation canal in the northern part of the valley. There was no word whether the raiders hit the waterway, only recently repaired following an Israeli attack.

The downed plane crashed in flames in Israeli-occupied territory, the spokesman said.

On Sunday, Israeli and Arab gunners fought artillery duels across two frontiers as Israeli planes crossed the Suez Canal in more strikes against Egypt's anti-aircraft defenses.

Artillery and mortar fire was exchanged across the Jordan River Sunday night after mortar shells were fired from Jordan at an Israeli frontier settlement south of the Sea of Galilee, according to witnesses in Israel.

There were no reports of casualties or damage in three Israeli border settlements that the Arabs shelled during the 75-minute clash.

Later, a fourth border village came in for Arab shelling, the military command reported, but there were no casualties.

West Memphis Fire Damage Is $500,000

WEST MEMPHIS, Ark. (AP) — Officials said Sunday a fire caused more than $500,000 damage to the Southern Petroleum Co. warehouse here.

The intense blaze, which was visible across the Mississippi River in downtown Memphis, was fought by fire departments in three states Saturday.

Firemen said the blaze was located in an area of the plant which blends motor oil and antifreeze. Several large tanks of alcohol exploded, sending huge fireballs into the sky.

The blaze, which started from a welder's torch, was finally brought under control late Saturday after firemen began pumping water from the Mississippi River onto the fire.

Firemen were still pumping water on the smoldering ruins of the plant late Sunday.

Firemen were hampered in efforts to fight the fire by explosions from storage cans of gasoline, oil, antifreeze and alcohol.

Hempstead Has Highest Accident Rate

Traffic accidents claimed 34 lives during April on Arkansas highways, according to the monthly statistical review of accidents released today by the Arkansas State Police.

Captain Milton Mosier, District Commander of the Hope District, said the 34 deaths represented the lowest traffic death toll for the 30 day period since 1961. He said the deaths occurred in 28 fatal collisions. Three of the deaths were recorded in the 12 county area comprising the Hope District, Columbia, Montgomery and Sevier Counties each recorded 1 traffic death.

Statewide, Troopers investigated 917 accidents. Mosier said 116 of the accidents occurred in the Hope District. Troopers cited speed, failure to yield right-of-way, driving on the wrong side of the road, and drinking as the leading causes in the accidents.

According to the report, Hempstead County recorded the highest accident rate during April, recording 19 accidents, followed by Columbia with 17; Clark 14; Little River 12; Pike 10; Montgomery 8; Howard, Miller, Polk, and Sevier each recorded 7 accidents; and Lafayette and Nevada counties each recorded 4 accidents.

Mosier urged all motorists to drive with extreme caution as the summer vacation period of 1970 approaches. He said traffic volume would reach its peak during the next three months, greatly increasing the probability of traffic accidents occurring.

Problem Is Overcome in Part

By IRA TAYLOR
Texarkana Gazette

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — Although classrooms are crowded and there are too many students for the one teacher per grade, school officials at Genoa Central School in Miller County have found a way to combat the problem—at least in part.

Their answer was the enlistment of high school students to work with younger pupils as student aides. The small county school, located some 11 miles southeast of Texarkana, has experienced the overcrowded conditions in recent years due to a movement or migration of people from the city to the country.

The idea to solicit help from high school students came from a meeting with officials of the Southwest Arkansas Diagnostic and Remedial Services Center in Magnolia, according to Gary Cobb, principal of the elementary side of the school.

"We met with officials of the Diagnostic Center to discuss some of the problems we face and this seemed to be our major problem," Cobb said. "We discussed various possibilities for solving it and finally came up with the student aide idea."

Cobb was named chairman of a committee to work out details of the proposed program and the program was put into effect more than six weeks ago. "We decided to use high school students from grades 9-12 and the first qualification was that the student must maintain a grade of 'C' or above in every subject, and have a good moral character in accordance with discipline guidelines set forth in the Student Handbook."

Cobb said the students work during study hall periods only and said the standard procedure is for students to work with one teacher for six weeks and then rotate, but said the rule was subject to change. The students apply for the program through applications printed by the committee.

Elementary teachers at the school use the student aides in various subjects and ways. Most all the teachers divide the class into groups with some teachers working with special groups and assigning the special groups to the student aide. Some teachers let the student work out the study and lesson plans for their groups while other teachers plan the lesson for the aide and let the student administer the lessons, grade papers and give individual help. "So far we have been very pleased with the results of the program," Cobb said. "It gives our teachers more time to work with individual students and each group can proceed on its particular level."

Other elementary teachers were pleased with the program too. "The kids love it," one teacher said. "They look forward to the period with the student aides."

Another teacher said she thought the program was effective because the student aides can reach the children on their own level much better than an older teacher.

Cobb said members of the Diagnostic Center visited the school recently to check on the progress of the program and said the visitors were apparently pleased with the results.

Cobb said officials with the center say the program is the first of its kind they know about and are very enthusiastic about its results. He said if the program does prove effective the center will recommend its use in other schools with similar situations.

School officials are optimistic about the program's outcome. L. B. Kennedy, superintendent of the school, praised the program and said he felt it could be very effective in schools similar to Genoa Central.

"The school could not afford to hire additional teachers for the grades with too many students, and this could solve the problem," he said.

PETITIONS (from page one)

Kennedy admitted on questioning by Pilkinton to having a police record, paying a fine of $106.50 March 4, 1969, for driving while intoxicated (DWI) and arrested on October 7, 1969, for possession of untaxed liquor and paying a fine of $56.50.

The law states that for a special election to be called, 15 per cent of the highest number of votes cast in the past general election for one position on the City Board of Directors. In this case, 2974 votes were cast in 1968 and 15 per cent of that number would be 446 qualified voters signatures needed to call an election. Although uncounted as yet, Kennedy claims over 500 signers. If the petitions are valid, Mayor Frank Douglas will then issue a proclamation, calling for a special election, to be held not less than 30 days, following the proclamation.

The law also states that, "When any municipality shall change form of government, the question of changing the form of government of such municipality shall not again be submitted to electors thereof until the expiration of four (4) years from the date on which the first officers are elected for the form of government adopted at such election."

Also, if a majority of the qualified electors of a municipality shall vote against adopting a different form of government, the question shall not again be resubmitted to the electors thereof for a period of two (2) years after the date of the election in which such proposed change of government in such municipality was rejected."

Mayor Frank Douglas issued this statement:

"There is no disposition on the part of any city official to prevent a vote on the question of the form of city government but an orderly procedure requires, and the law directs, that the city clerk make a check of the names on the petitions to determine whether or not the sufficient number of qualified electors have signed it. When that is completed, the city clerk will then certify as to the sufficiency or insufficiency of the petitions. At that point an election will be called if the petitions are in proper form and are signed by the required numbers of electors."

Stock Market Really Not True Indicator

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — If the stock market were to be believed, the economy would be in for a whopper of a recession. But the market is more often wrong than right as a foreteller of disaster.

Economists inside and outside Washington generally agree, privately at least, that a recession is in progress. Almost unanimously they appraise it as shallow and brief, turning into recovery by summer or fall.

By contrast with the loss of roughly one-fourth of the paper value of stock holdings—about $200 billion—corporate economists foresee a 1970 decline in profits averaging not more than 5 or 10 per cent from last year's record of $94.3 billion.

As in each market slump of recent years, business experts recall the comment of Paul Samuelson, Massachusetts Institute of Technology economist, who said: "The stock market has predicted eight of the last three recessions."

Government economists say that if Samuelson's tally is brought up to date, it becomes 11 out of the four postwar recessions.

To that list may be now added the 25.7 per cent drop from the peak of the bull market in December 1968, to this month. The question whether there is a recession must be answered "probably," economists agree.

They also agree it will be a mild one. An administration official—one in close touch with the financial markets—suggested the stock market is a better reflector of the state of public confidence and Wall Street's own morale than an indicator of economic truths.

"The Cambodia decision and the reaction to it did much damage to confidence," this official admitted privately. "The internal polarization of the country, the depth of dissent, and the questioning of the quality of our decision-making are very important factors in the market's behavior."

"It will make all the difference in the world when the troops come out of Cambodia without spreading the war, when campus disorders subside, when we get some showing of a downhold on inflation," said one official.

Wilson to Call British Election

By FRED COLEMAN
Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson is expected to issue a call today for Britain's next general election, and June 18 is the predicted date.

Wilson discussed election strategy with the Labor party executive and his cabinet for six hours Sunday, touching off widespread speculation that the election announcement was imminent.

In line with tradition, Wilson was expected to call on Queen Elizabeth II at Buckingham Palace during the afternoon to inform her of his decision, then summon the opposition leader, Edward Heath of the Conservative party, to No. 10 Downing St. Heath cancelled his appointments to await the call.

Political correspondents of 10 nationally circulated newspapers agreed today that a June 18 election was almost certain.

British parliaments are elected for five years, but the prime minister can call for a new electoral mandate any time. Although the term of the current House of Commons does not expire until next May, the Labor government is ahead in public opinion polls for the first time in almost four years, and Wilson has been under strong pressure from his party's members in Commons to seize the advantage before summer.

Five recent soundings put Labor ahead. The most dramatic was a Gallup Poll May 12 that gave Labor a 7.5 per cent lead over the Conservatives 49 to 41.5 per cent, and a swing of 12 per cent in a month.

But some Laborites fear economic recovery following the devaluation of the pound in 1967 and the unpopular wage and credit freezes that followed. In April, the government announced Britain's first foreign trade surplus and its first tax cuts in six years. But some Laborites fear economic troubles in the United States could hit British exports later in the year; they prefer a ballot now.

Wilson also has been pressed

Monday, May 18, 1970 to get the election out of the way, before talks open June 30 on Britain's third application to join the European Common Market. Opinion polls show some 65 per cent of the British voters oppose joining the European union, largely from fear of higher food prices. Although both the Labor and Conservative parties favor joining the market, there is concern among the Laborites that the government would be at a disadvantage in an election campaign during the negotiations because it would be saddled with the official position.
